Market Drivers

✧ Continual growth in crime, espionage, fraud, malicious threats
  o Cyber criminals are now focused on financial gain

✧ Most successful attacks these days are through custom web applications

✧ Data leakage a major concern across all enterprises

✧ More and more compliance requirements o PCI, HIPPA, SARBOX, etc.

✧ Budgets are tight in slow economy

✧ However, there is no “silver bullet” when it comes to security
Hackers “smell blood in the water” during down economies
- Historically security budgets are cut when revenues are tight
- Hackers, however, are not going to delay attacks until the market turns around

Residual affect of downsizing is “brain drain” due to loss of talent

- 17% of attacks due to grudges/hostility (MIS Training Institute)

More tech savvy people being laid off are turning to cyber crime, increasing the overall threat profile
